

MARYLAND GAZETTE

Containing the freshest Advices, Foreign and Domestic.

WEDNESDAY, July 5, 1749.

MADRID, March 25.

H. B. court has received letters by an advice-ship, arrived at Cadix from the Havana, importing, that admiral Reggio was preparing to sail for Europe immediately after the arrival of the ships he expected from Vera Cruz, which have a vast quantity of gold and silver on board, besides the products of the West Indies.

Vienna, April 2. No time is yet fixed for the several encampments lately mentioned; but it is certain that orders are issued for tracing a camp at Hohen, the command of which will be given to general count Schulemberg. The court has issued fresh orders for continuing the new levies with all possible diligence, and the colonels are enjoined to bring the muster-rolls to the empress herself, when their regiments are completed.

April 5. Last week tea deputies from the Protestants of Hungary came up to court, to lay before the empress queen several new grievances, and solicit redress.

The 27th of last month an extraordinary conference was held at court, on the memorial presented by the French minister at London, relating to the dispositions of his most Christian majesty, with respect to the affairs of the North, and the consequences thereof. As it appears by this memorial, that the king of France's intention is to prevent troubles in that part of Europe, or to perform his engagements in case his endeavours to preserve peace prove fruitless, the empress queen's ministry have given Mr. Keith, the British minister, to understand that her Imperial majesty is precisely in the same temper, and earnestly wishes to see the good offices of those powers crowned with success, who shall endeavour to blow away the storm that is gathering in the North.

M. Marthal is set out for Paris, in order to reduce there, all the empress sends an ambassador extraordinary to the French court. M. Blondel is expected here forthwith, in quality of resident from his most Christian majesty. It is said that these two ministers are charged with instructions, about some articles mentioned in the definitive treaty, which neither party has yet been able to come to decide; that private conferences are to be held on this subject, and that consultations will be forthwith appointed on both sides for the purpose.

Berlin, April 8. It has been remarked here, that, on occasion of the orders given to the king's troops to be in readiness to march in case of need, two distinct pieces have been inserted in some foreign Gazettes, the one being stiled an Exposition, and the other going under the title of a Notification, to his majesty's ministers at foreign courts. Now, it is proper to inform the public, that the last piece only is to be deemed authentic: The other, which is drawn up in a stile favouring of a manifesto, far from being owned by the court, ought to be looked upon only as an amplification of some news writer, or other persons, who should however have considered, that it does not become them to alter the terms in which respectable courts think fit to explain their intentions.

All is very quiet here: The reports that were spread, as if diverse camps were to be speedily formed, are not confirmed; at least, we don't see any dispositions making for those purposes; so that we begin to hope the tranquillity of the North may be preserved, notwithstanding any appearance to the contrary. The buying up of horses for remounting the king's cavalry has been countermanded or suspended.

Hamburg, April 8. A great number of seamen are gone from hence, as also from Lubeck, and other neighbouring ports, to Sweden, in order to be employed on board the men of war and galleys going out in that kingdom.

Dusseldorf, April 7. The Prussian troops in garrison at Wesel, Bielefeld, Herfort, and other places, did receive orders some time since to hold themselves in readiness to march on the first notice, and were actually preparing to depart; but we have just received advice, that fresh orders are arrived from his Prussian majesty, provisionally suspending the march of the said troops.

Paris, April 7. A courier set out a few days ago for Stockholm, with dispatches for the marquis de Launay, the king's ambassador there, charging him to declare afresh to the Swedish court, That his majesty would be very glad if some expedient could be found to prevent a war in the North; but that if it should unfortunately happen otherwise, and there be a necessity for performing his engagements, he will do it with all the punctuality requisite in the observance of treaties.

The duke of Modena having resolved to make a voyage to England, before he returns to his dominions, is accordingly preparing to set out for London in a few days.

The marquis de Valori, our envoy extraordinary at the Prussian court, is set out on his return thither, with new instructions for composing the differences which seem to threaten the North with a war.

Hague, April 15. The States General took, on Saturday last, a resolution to appoint M. William de Haren, to be their envoy extraordinary at the court of Sweden. The deputies of the East-India company are returned to this place, in order to present to the prince stadtholder the diploma of his new office of supreme director and governor-general of that company.

Vienna, April 13. M. Stettberg, the Austrian envoy, arrived here last night. Count Betschkeff, the Russian envoy at this court, who is now appointed ambassador from the court of Petersburg to that of Vienna, was married here to the countess of Hauritz. Count de Bene, the Spanish envoy at this court, set out yesterday on his return to Madrid.

Hague, April 18. A solemn deputation from the East-India company, composed of 32 deputies, waited the day before yesterday on the prince stadtholder, and delivered to his serene highness the diploma of his office of supreme director and governor-general of their company.

Dantzick, April 2. The Russian troops that are traversing Poland, sometimes make forced marches, that they may reach the frontiers of Courland by the end of this month; when they are to halt, but they receive fresh orders from Petersburg. In the mean time, large magazines are erecting at Riga for their subsistence.

The Prussian regiments, actually in Prussia, have received orders to hold themselves in readiness to march, that they may observe the motions of the Russian troops when they arrive on the frontiers of Courland. There is much talk of a camp which the Prussians are to form near Koningsberg, but as yet there is nothing decided on this head.

Two thousand men are daily employed in repairing and strengthening the fortifications of this city. The republic's commissaries in Courland confer now and then with the deputies of the noblesse and the states, about the election of a new duke, as it is said.

Warsaw, April 5. The three columns of the Russian troops under general Lieven, have actually passed the Vistula; and continue their march with all possible diligence, resting but one day in the week, and sometimes two, according to the nature of the ground or place they are in. We are assured that the republic has sent orders into Lithuania, for keeping the troops in that duchy in readiness to march, that they may go and reinforce those that have actually already entered the duchy of Courland.

Vienna, April 12. The troops that are to form the intended camps only wait for the last order to begin their march; and it is just given out, that those camps are only designed for introducing a new exercise among the troops.

The deputies of the Protestants of Hungary have received a favourable answer to their memorial, the empress queen having assured assured them, that she had already issued various orders for redressing religious grievances in that kingdom; that she wished for nothing more than to see a good harmony between her subjects of the two communions; and that she would cause the affairs of the churches taken from the Protestants to be strictly enquired into, in order to it's being decided according to justice and equity.

L O N D O N.

April 6. Yesterday the Right Hon. Sir William Calvert, knight, lord mayor of this city, with the aldermen, sheriffs, &c. went in procession from Guildhall to Leicester-house, to compliment the prince and princess of Wales on the birth of a young princess; when Richard Adams, Esq; the recorder, made a polite and learned Speech, to which their royal highnesses returned a suitable answer, and they all had the honour of kissing their royal highnesses hands.

Tuesday night, about 8 o'clock, as Mr. Delaporte of St. Martin's lane, was returning from Cambridge, he was attacked by three footpads and a man on horseback, in the road leading to Islington, near Canbury house, who knock'd him off his horse into a ditch, then took him across the road over a gate into a field, and robb'd him of a gold watch, a diamond ring, a gold ring, 13 guineas, some silver, and several other things of value.

Yesterday the Lapwing sloop of war was launch'd at Woolwich, and the command given to capt. Liloyd, late lieutenant of the Bedford.

The same day the lords of the admiralty gave orders for the Prince Edward man of war to be fitted out with all expedition for the island of Barbadoes, with dispatches of the last importance relating to that island.

April 7. It is very remarkable, that the first man that robbed Mr. Delaporte, as mentioned yesterday, when he got him over the gate, separate from the rest, told him he'd shoot him, if he told either of his accomplices he had taken any gold from him; which put him under the necessity of saying to the others (as they each ask'd him) That he had no gold at all: A plain proof what villains they are, even to one another. It is supposed by several circumstances, that they are the same persons who robbed and murder'd Mr. Scott about three weeks ago, and have committed many robberies since about the same place.

Yesterday a sermon was preached by the right reverend father in God, John lord bishop of Lincoln, at St. Lawrence's church near Guildhall, before his grace the duke of Richmond, president, and the rest of the governors of the London infirmary; there were present the lord archbishop of Canterbury, her grace the duchess of Richmond, the earls of Sandwich, Shaftsbury, &c. the right hon. the lord viscount Windfor, and a great number of the nobility and gentry; who proceeded afterwards to Merchant Taylor's hall, where an elegant entertainment was provided for them. The collection for the above-mentioned charity was thirteen thousand pounds, besides the two hundred pounds, the legacy of Mr. Peck, deceased, then paid in to the treasurers by Sir Robert Ladbroke.

April 8. Thursday night last about 9 o'clock, seven villains broke into the house at Tyler's Ferry, near Hackney Marsh, bound the man of the house, his servant and child, took from him 15 l. in money, all he had in the world; after which they bound up and carried off all the household goods they could conveniently remove.

Wednesday night a man well dress'd was decoyed into a house in Bowl-yard, St. Giles's, where he was found the next morning robb'd and murder'd.

April 13. Yesterday morning a great number of soldiers, sailors, artificers, husbandmen, &c. attended on the right honourable the lords commissioners of trade and plantations, at Whitehall, and received orders for their being admitted, with their families and effects, into the transports, which are to sail in a few days for the new intended settlement at Nova Scotia.

April 14. In a few days the royal regiment of artillery, consisting of four companies, with the bombardiers, miners, and gunners, will march from Woolwich to Hyde-Park, where we hear they are to encamp, and that his majesty will review them.

Extract of a Letter from Paris, April 18, N. S.

"We still talk of marshal count Saxe's journey to Germany, on occasion of the affairs of the North, and the approaching election of a duke of Courland; this general having resolved, as we are assured, to make good his claim to that duchy, of which he was formerly elected duke. — Notwithstanding the great reform made in the king's troops seems to promise us a lasting peace, the public is not a little apprehensive that it will not continue long, as they see measures taken to augment the marine of this kingdom, the court having within these few days sent down fresh orders to the sea ports relative thereto.

—We are assured that the marriage of one of the princesses, the king's daughters, will be speedily declared. The marquis d'Avincourt, who is gone to London to execute a secret commission, will forthwith repair from thence to the Hague. It is confirmed that the Pretender's eldest son marries the princess of Radziwil, the richest heiress in Poland; at which the court seems not a little pleased, as he will want the less cash from us in case he finds an opportunity for playing any new pranks beyond sea. — The court has received some important dispatches from M. Durand, the king's minister at London, the principal object of which is the settlement which some of the inhabitants of Martinico have undertaken to make in the island of Tobago. The ministry are now employed in poring over treaties, and looking into other papers, in order to find out by what title this crown may lay claim to the Caribbee islands, that so they may afterwards decide the difference about Tobago in particular.

A hundred pieces of fine polish'd brass cannon are ordered to be brought from the tower by water to Whitehall, and from thence to the camp; and the night the fireworks are play'd off they are to be placed in the Green Park, on the top of Constitution hill.

The honourable the artillery company having offered to attend the right honourable the lord mayor to St. Pauls cathedral, on the thanksgiving day, his lordship accepted the compliment, and desired them to be ready by eleven o'clock in the morning.

April 22. Thursday was held at Merchant Taylor's hall the feast of the sons of the clergy, at which were present his grace the lord archbishop of Canterbury, president of the corporation, the right reverend the bishops of Rochester, Gloucester, Worcester, Bristol, Lincoln, Chichester, St. David's, Carlisle, Peterborough, Bangor, and St. Asaph; the right honourable the lord mayor, and fourteen aldermen. The collection on the rehearsal at St. Paul's, and on Thursday, and at the hall, amounted in all to 977 l. 12 s. 6 d. The sermon was preached by the Rev. Sir Gilbert Williams, Bart.

Yesterday there was a numerous concourse of the nobility, gentry, &c. at Spring Gardens, Vaux-hall, to hear the music which is to be performed during the playing off the fireworks rehearsal; which occasioned such a stoppage on London-bridge, as no carriage could go over for near three hours, a thing not known before in the memory of man.

We have an account from Stockholm, by a letter dated April 1, of a very strange murder lately committed not far from Aepfal. A woman that got her bread by driving a kind of peddling trade about the countries, having taken up her lodging in a farm house belonging to a widow, the son of her landlady form'd a design of murdering her; and knowing she was to lie with his mother, came in the night to put his intention into execution: But the stranger finding herself ill, had risen to go and seat herself in the chimney, over the embers, and the assassin, by mistake, cut his mother's throat; for which he has been condemned to be hanged, after first losing his right hand.

B O S T O N, Jan 19.

We learn that the new governor of Canada has lately wrote a very haughty and insolent letter to the governor of Nova Scotia, and our governor, in which Monsieur claims the bigger part of Nova Scotia, and part of this province, blaming the governor of Nova Scotia for exacting any authority over the French inhabitants and Indians in that province; also insisting on Col. Gorham's being hindered from using any means by force or otherways to draw said inhabitants from their allegiance to the king of France, and laying many complaints against Mr. Gorham: We also learn the aforesaid inhabitants were rejoiced to hear peace lately proclaimed there, but were chagrined to hear the English were going to settle in said province, which they have been made to believe all along by the French, that this province was to be given up as well as Louisbourg. The schooner Anf n sailed for Annapolis last monday, on board of which was Col. Gorham.

A N N A P O L I S.

We are informed, that the Gale we had here on the 27th of June, was likewise very violent on some Part of the Eastern Shore. In Queen Anne's County it has done much Damage, by blowing down Houses, &c. and the Hail, which fell there as large as Birds Eggs, has broke many Windows.

Last Saturday, a Man at Lower Marlborough went into the Water to wash himself, and was drowned.

We hear from all Parts of the Country of plentiful Crops of Wheat this Harvest. In Pennsylvania, it is said, they have not had so fine a Prospect for many Years, as this Year.

We are told, that Quantities of Fish have been drove ashore dead in Behemia River, and other Places, supposed to have died by the late intense Heat.
